MEETING IN A BOX FOR THE FRONTLINE

Introduce and Reinforce Speed of Trust Principles at Every Level of Your Organization

Trust is the one thing that changes everything. The Speed of Trust Meeting in a Box for the Frontline solution helps you create and reinforce that change at every level of your organization. Ideal for front-line teams, individual contributors, and new employees, the Meeting in a Box solution is a two-hour interactive leader-led discovery experience that requires no facilitation. Up to eight people gather around a 4x6-foot map as shown below. Participants trade off using a spiral bound card set with instructions and work-related scenarios. A volunteer picks a card, which initiates a dialogue between players. As participants “play,” they must move from trust taxes to trust dividends.

Participants will:

- Learn/revisit the 4 Cores of Credibility and the 13 Behaviors that build trust.
- Explore the importance of being trustworthy with themselves and the people with whom they work.
- Understand how trust influences results.
- Identify individual strengths and opportunities to restore, extend, and practice behaviors of high trust.
